Sustainable Agricultural Development Fund

Background

In 2016 Policy Address, the Government decided to implement the New Agriculture Policy, including the establishment of the Sustainable Agricultural Development Fund (SADF) to provide financial support for the modernisation and sustainable development of local agriculture. To further support the development of the industry in terms of application of advanced technology and intensification of production, and to help them seize the opportunities arising from the Greater Bay Area (GBA) development, the Government further injected $500 million to the Fund and appropriately expanded its coverage in 2022 so as to increase resources to support the sustainable development of the industry.

Purpose and Funding Scope of Projects

The SADF is designed to support practical, application-oriented projects, schemes or research work that would help farmers enhance their productivity and output, as well as contribute to fostering the sustainable development and enhancing the overall competitiveness of the agricultural industry. Projects to be considered may include funding support for promoting research and development that eases the application of technology to agricultural production and projects that facilitate the transfer of agriculture knowledge, etc.

Applications for grants from the Fund can generally be divided into the following three categories:

- (a) Innovative Projects (which may involve commercial elements): innovative, unique or pilot in nature, and not duplicating work already or currently carried out by other groups;
- (b) Application Projects (which may involve commercial elements): technologies/modes of commercial operation which have achieved preliminary results but are not necessarily unique or pilot in nature or have not yet been widely applied in the local industry; and
- (c) Support Services Projects: providing support services for the sustainable development of the industry and enhancing their competitiveness that are non-profit-making in nature with no commercial elements.

Innovative Projects involving commercial elements will be funded on a maximum of a two-dollar-for-a-dollar matching basis between the Government and the applicant, while Application Projects involving commercial elements will be funded on a maximum of a dollar-for-dollar matching basis

Eligibility and Assessment Criteria on Projects

The following will be eligible to apply –

- (a) where applications are made by legal entities, the entity concerned should be a company incorporated in Hong Kong under the Companies Ordinance (Cap. 622) and has a close connection with Hong Kong or a body corporate incorporated in Hong Kong under other Ordinances of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, including local registered agricultural co-operatives, non-profit-making agricultural organisations and non-governmental organisations. The applicants must demonstrate a close connection with the agricultural industry in Hong Kong; and
- (b) academic and research institutions in Hong Kong.

Joint applications with overseas organisations and institutions are permissible, provided that the projects are led by a local group organisation satisfying the criteria stated in paragraphs (a) to (b) above. Applicants for funding under SADF must demonstrate that they possess the necessary experience, expertise or technical knowhow in agriculture in order to be eligible to be considered for funding under SADF.

Programmes, projects and research that would facilitate the development of modern and sustainable agriculture, thereby enhancing the overall competitiveness of the agricultural industry as a whole may be considered and awarded on their individual merits (including the efficacy of the project and the capability of the applicant). The benefits of projects funded under SADF in general must accrue to the local agricultural community as a whole, and not just to an individual, a single organisation, a consortium of agricultural companies or a narrow sector.

Submission of Applications

The application form can be downloaded from the AFCD website (www.afcd.gov.hk) or obtained from the Sustainable Agricultural Development Fund Secretariat (Secretariat) or the Agricultural Extension Office in Yuen Long. The completed application form, together with background information of the relevant organisation (in particular the relationship with the local agricultural industry) and supporting documents required, should be sent to the Secretariat either by e-mail to sadf@afcd.gov.hk or by post to the following address:

The Sustainable Agricultural Development Fund Secretariat
5/F Cheung Sha Wan Government Office
303 Cheung Sha Wan Road, Kowloon, Hong Kong

Processing of Applications

The Secretariat will endeavour to ensure that all applications received will be processed expeditiously as far as practicable. The proposed projects will be forwarded to relevant units of AFCD for assessment in parallel. Afterwards, the Secretariat will prepare a summary of the project incorporating the assessment results for consideration by the SADF Advisory Committee. The Director of Agriculture, Fisheries and Conservation may approve, on the advice of the Advisory Committee, grants not exceeding $15 million. Grant exceeding $15 million recommended by the Advisory Committee will be subject to the approval of LegCo Finance Committee. The Secretariat will notify applicants of the application results in writing.

Upon approval of a project, the Government will enter into an Agreement with the successful applicant and other relevant parties such as third-party financier(s) as appropriate. The Agreement will prescribe in detail each party's rights, obligations and involvement in the project, etc. If the application is rejected, the Secretariat will notify the unsuccessful applicant in writing of the result and the reasons for the rejection including the criteria that have not been satisfied. The applicant may resubmit an application if it is subsequently substantially revised or incorporated fresh information in response to the queries and concerns raised.
